

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. BE IT REMEMBERED, That on the twenty-ninth day of December, A. D. 1828, in the fifty-third year of the Independence of the United States of America, Hilliard Gray, Little and Wilkins, of the said district, have deposited in this office the title of a book, the right whereof they claim as proprietors, in the words following, to wit:

"Italian Pocket Dictionary: in two parts: I. Italian and English:—II. English and Italian; preceded by an Italian Grammar. By C. Graglia. First American, from the Fourteenth London Edition, with Corrections and Additions."

In conformity to the act of the Congress of the United States, entitled, "An Act for the encouragement of learning, by securing the copies of maps, charts, and books, to the authors and proprietors of such copies during the times therein mentioned;" and also to an act, entitled, "An Act supplementary to an act, entitled, An Act for the encouragement of learning, by securing the copies of maps, charts, and books, to the authors and proprietors of such copies during the times therein mentioned; and extending the benefits thereof to the arts of designing, engraving, and etching, historical and other prints."

THE general approbation with which this valuable little Dictionary has been received ; the rapidity with which fourteen editions have been exhausted in England ; and its universal adoption by instructors in this country, are a sufficient recommendation of the work. Many errors of accentuation, orthography, &c. had, however, found their way into the text, which has been carefully revised, and compared with those of Alberti, Barberi, &c.

In a Pocket Dictionary of so copious a language as the Italian, a complete vocabulary is not to be expected. In order to make the additions to this part of the work more useful, the texts of the classics most commonly read by beginners were examined, and such words and idioms inserted from them, as were not contained in the former editions.* The works used for this purpose were the Scelta from Goldoni, Notti Romane, Gerusalemme Liberata, the Tragcdie of Monti, Prose Italiane, and Poesie Italiane, compiled for the use of Harvard University, &c.

* These additions amount to about three thousand articles.

The Grammar, which is quite a useful compend, has been enlarged by some additions respecting articles, gender, number, &c.

CHAPTER I.

THE Italian tongue has twenty-two letters.

Letters.	Sounds in English.	Italian Examples.
A	a ^h	Casa
B	bay	Becco
C	chay, before a, i	Cencio
{ D	hay, before a, o, u	Bocca
E	day	Dedito
F	a	Bene
G	f	Filosofo
{ H	djay, before a, i	Genio
I	gay, before a, o, u	Garbo
J	acca, is only a sign, without any sound	Hanno
{ K	as	Diritto

P	o	Rotto
Q	pay	Padre
R	coo and hoo	Quaglia
S	air	Parlare
T	oo	Sartore
U	lay	Tutto
V	ou or oo	Futuro
W	vay	Vena
{ X	is	Carozza
Z	ds	Zelo

X and w are only used in foreign names. C supplies A, and so is changed into u before a vowel, and v before a consonant.

X is commonly changed into s, ss, and sometimes ce :—Xerxes, Sersa ; Alexander, Alessandro ; excellent, eccellente.

Ph becomes f :—Philosopher, filosofo.

OBSERVATIONS

On the letters a, e, i, and j; o, u, and v; c, g, h, s, t, z, m, and n.

N. B. For the sake of simplicity and brevity, the translation of the Italian words has been dispensed with, wherever it was judged not to be absolutely wanted. Should any meaning become necessary to the reader, the Dictionary is at hand.

A is always sounded broad, like a in alarm, father; thus, padre, madre, amare. But a with an accent at the end of words has a quick, sharp sound; thus the a in calamità, calamity, is sharper than it is in calamita, a loadstone.

E has generally a close sound, as in the English words pen, fen; thus, maiestà, credo. But sometimes it is open, as in there; thus, bella, bene, cielo. No sure rule can be given on this point.

I sounds like double ee in sleep:—diritto, similitudine.

J is always a vowel in the Italian, and sounds like i, but somewhat longer, as y in the English word yield. Its chief use is to form the plural of nouns in io short, that is, pronounced in one syllable; as tempio, temple; tempi; principio, beginning; principi; which otherwise would be confounded with tempo, from tempo, time; and principi from principio, prince. It is also employed by some grammarians in the tenses of verbs where two i should meet; but this ought to be done only when the two i form but one syllable, as chi lo studi, che tu studi, &c. but not to sentì, io udi, in which words the letters i form two distinct syllables.

O sounds sometimes open, as in the English word not:—popolo, idolo:—Sometimes close, as in English note:—ornamento, volere. Practice alone can teach the difference.

U has always the sound of u, as in the English word rule, or of oo in moon:—unico, pubblico, suocero.

U before o, in the same syllable, is pronounced faintly:—buono, fuoco, uomin. Except in duo, tuo, suo, virtuoso, in which the u has its full sound, because then the u and the o form two distinct syllables. In any other case, vowels combined together form but one sound, as in wrist, tuot, suot.

V, which is a real consonant, is pronounced as the English v:—verso, tavola, velo.

C before a, o, u, sounds like k; as in casa, collo, cura.

C before e, i, sounds like ch in the English words child, cheek:—ciccone, cenico, cervico. In this case, when two ce meet, the first takes the sound of a soft s; thus, accento, accidente, read atchento, atchidente.

When after ci follows another vowel, as cia, cie, cio, ciu, they must be pronounced in one syllable, and the i has a faint sound:—ciancia, cielo, ciacca, ciurma.

Ch sounds k:—chiedo, chioma, chimico, che, chi, read kiodo, kioma, kimico, khe, kchi.

G before a, o, u, sounds as in English:—gamba, gobbo, gusto.

G before e and i has the sound of dj, as found in the soft g of the English words gender, giant:—genio, guto, giro.

Gia, gio, giu, are pronounced dgia, dgio, dgju, in one syllable, and the i has a faint sound:—Giacio, giastro, giubba.

Gna, gue, gui, gno, gnu, cannot be represented by English sounds; they are pronounced like the French words Espagne, miguai, lorgner:—Campagna, agnello, incognito, agnudo.

G before h has a liquid sound, which the English language has not, except, perhaps, in the word million. It is nearer the French words file, bouillon, famille:—Figlio, migliori, malaglia. But it keeps the English sound in the words Anglicano, negligere, negligente, negligenza, negligito, and its other derivatives.

GG. When two gg come together before e or i, the first g has the soft sound of d, as in the English word edge:—oggetto, oggi.

The letter h between g and e, i, strengthens the sound, which becomes then as the English words get, gift:—Ghiaccio, ghigno, botteghe, gheppio.

Hence it appears that the letter h, although it has no sound of itself, contributes to alter the sounds of other letters, namely, c and g. For thus, che, chi, and ghe, ghi, by the interposition of an h, lose the sounds of ce, ci, ge, gi. It also serves to distinguish some words alike in sound, though different in meaning: as hanno, they have, and anno, year; ha, he has, and the preposition a, to; hai, thou hast, and ai, to the.—Many persons write now these words and some others without the h; thus, o, ai, a, anno, instead of ho, hai, ha, hanno.

S. This letter has two sounds, one strong, with some hissing, and the other soft, somewhat like z. It is pronounced strong in the beginning of words, as in English, safety, money:—sapere, sento, sereno, subito. It is commonly soft between two vowels: as in case, guisa, favore, rosa. Likewise before d, g, h, m, n, r, v; as sdegno, sguarido, svelare, disviare. Yet it sounds harsh in colt, thus; si, yes; and rosa, rose, from the verb rodere, to gnaw.

Sc before a, o, u, sounds sha, sho, shu; thus, scaltro, scolare, scuola.

ITALIAN TONGUE.

7.

Sc before c, t, sounds like sh, in the English word these :—scena, scinto.

The sounds scia, scie, scio, sciu, form one syllable only, and the t has a faint sound :—sciatic, scienza, sciotta.

T is pronounced as in English. It was anciently used in some words derived from Latin, as natione, gratia ; but the present orthography is z.

Z and ZZ. This letter, as well single as double, has two sounds ; one strong, like ts in daughter, and the other soft, like ds in Windsor. The strong sound is the most general : thus, for nozze, fuzzo-lito, bellezza, sana, zio, zucca, read nots, fai-zo-lito, be-llezza, sa-na, zio, zucca, read nots, fai-zo-lito, &c.

The sound is generally soft in the words ending in enza, enza, enza ; and in those words, which, in Latin, and in English words derived from the Latin, are written with a z, a c, or a t, pronounced like a soft c. Thus, for costanza, prudenza, la-gonza, Lazaro, azzurro, zodiaco, read costan-za, pru-den-za, &c.

No certain rule can be given to distinguish when the z is soft, and when harsh ; for, although most words written with a double zz have a strong sound, many of them, however, have a soft sound ; such are vezzo, mezzo, &c.

The double consonants must be distinctly pronounced. Thus in reading immenso, innocente, addio, ribelle, attentare, read im-men-so, in-no-cente, ad-dio, re-bel-le, at-tent-a-re.

CHAPTER II.

ACCENTS, APOSTROPHE, AND ELISION.

THERE are two accents in Italian, the grave (') and the acute (^).

Grave accent.—1. It is put on nouns in à and ò, which have the singular and plural alike; as, lettà, bontà, virtù, gioventù. Such nouns ended formerly in ade and ate, ude and ute, and they are still used in poetry.

2. On the third person singular of the preterperfect tense of verbs, of which the first person ends in two vowels; thus, amò, credè, from amai, credi. But write without the grave accent vinse, prese, from vinsi, presi.

3. On the first and third person singular of every verb in the future tense; thus, amerò, amerà, crederò, crederà, sentirò, sentirà.

4. To make a distinction between words alike in orthography, but different in signification; as, li, lì, the, there, la, the and her, lì, the and they; dà, he gives, da, from; di, day, di, of; sì, yes and so, sì, one's self; è, he is, e, and; però, therefore, però, a pear-tree, &c. &c.

Some other words are also written with the grave accent, such as più, more, giù, below, costì, costà, there, cost, thus, già, already, ciò, that which; with many others, which practice will teach.

5. When a word, having the grave accent, is joined to another word, the consonant of the latter word must be doubled, and the accent be taken off; thus di and dà, joined to mi, become dimmi, tell me, dammi give me; farò and io are made farol- lo, I will do it; più and fasto become piustasse, sooner, &c. &c.

Acute accent.—This accent is used only on the s of words ending in to and io, whenever to and io are pronounced in two distinct syllables; as, pazzia, dazio, gallaria, addio.

Some writers use it likewise on words which have a double signification; as, tenere, to hold, tenere, tender; ancora, again, ancora, an anchor; nettare, nectar, nettare, to cleanse, &c. but this nicety is not strictly observed now, unless the sentence should offer an ambiguous meaning.

Apostrophe and Elision.—The apostrophe is a mark to show that one or more letters are cut off; and the elision is the cutting off of those letters.

They are used in the following cases:

1. After the articles lo, la, li, gli, &c. and their oblique cases, before words that begin with a vowel, or when they are abbreviated; as, l'anima, l'onore, de' libri, de' padri, &c. with the exceptions noticed in the following chapter.

Yet, in poetry, several licences are taken, and we find lo amore, lo eroico, lo imperadore, lo ingiusto; and even lo agiusto, lo imperadore.

The i of the article il is cut off after a word ending with a vowel, but not the vowel of that word; as, tutto 'l'pace; mi dica 'l suo nome.

2. Mi, ti, ci, vi, ne, si, di, receive the apostrophe before a vowel; as, voi m'intendete, egli s'intende, s'ingannarà, &c. However, ci suffers no abbrev-vision before a and u, in order to avoid a harsh pronunciation.

3. The words which have the grave accent, as, dàro, farò, felicità, &c. are never abbreviated, except chè, with its compounds, perchè, benchè, nichè, &c. perchè era, benchè andasse, &c.

4. These six words, uno, bello, grande, santo, quello, buono, before masculine nouns that begin with a consonant, are abridged thus; un, bel, gran, sant, quel, buon;—and before vowels;—un, bello, grande, sant, quell, buon; as, un libro, un bel libro, gran cavallo, San Pietro, quel soldato, buon pane,—un amico, bello uomo, grand' ingegno, Sant' Antonio, quell' amore, buon' oratore.

But none of these words are abridged, by correct writers, before feminine nouns, except grande; as, gran darsa, grand' armata.

Observe also, that neither these words, nor any others, should be abridged before an s impure, that is, an s followed by a consonant; as, specchio, studio, &c.; therefore write bello specchio, quello stu- dio, &c. Contrary examples are to be met with, but they are incorrect.

5. All words in the singular number, which have one of the liquid consonants, l, m, n, r, before their final vowel, may lose their final vowel, unless before words that begin with s followed by a consonant.—Vowels are seldom lost in the plural number.—The vowels after l and r are often lost than those after m and n: except in verbs, for then the vowel after m is very often cut off: as, attendiam, andiam, fugiam, &c. for attendiamo, &c.

6. Infinitives, joined to mi, ti, ci, vi, si, ne, lo, la, le, gli, or any other word to which they are united, drop their final e; thus, per vederlo, sentirsi, pentirsi, &c. instead of per vederlo, sentire si, pentire si.

As to minute exceptions concerning the apostrophe and elision, they must be left to practices, or to larger treatises. This was thought enough for our present plan with young students.

CHAPTER III.

NOUNS: Gender; Number.

I. GENDER.

1. Of nouns in e, some are masculine, and some are feminine.
2. Nouns in o are masculine; except la mano, the hand.
3. Nouns in a are feminine; except a few Greek nouns; as il fena, the theme.
4. Nouns in i are feminine; except al, day; it compounds, lunedì, &c. and a few others.
5. Nouns in u are feminine.

II. NUMBER.

1. General Rules.

Masculine nouns make their plural in i.
Feminine nouns in a form it in e.
Nouns in o or e form it in i.
Nouns ending with an accented vowel, or with i, or with ie, are invariable; except moglie, mogli.

2. Particular Rules.

Masculine nouns change

	Sing.	Plur.
a into i	dramma	drammi
e " i	padre	padri

Masculine nouns change

	Sing.	Plur.

ca " chi	duca	duchi
co " chi	cuoco	cuochi
go " ghi	luogo	luoghi

Many polysyllables in co and go, after a vowel, have ci and gi in the plural.

Feminine nouns change

	Sing.	Plur.
a into e	casa	case
e " i	madre	madri
o " i	mano	mani

Singular.

N. il libro
G. del libro
D. al libro
A. il libro
Ab. dal libro

Plural.

i libri
dei or de' libri
ai or a' libri
i libri
dai or da' libri

II. The definite article lo is used before masculine nouns which begin with an s followed by a consonant, and sometimes before nouns beginning with z.—Study, studio. Zeal, zelo.

Singular.

N. lo studio
G. dello studio
D. allo studio
A. lo studio
Ab. dallo studio

Plural.

gli studi
degli studi
agli studi
gli studi
dagli studi

III. The definite article la is used before feminine nouns which begin with a consonant.—House, casa.

Singular.

N. la casa
G. della casa
D. alla casa
A. la casa
Ab. dalla casa

Plural.

le case
delle case
alle case
le case
dalle case

IV. The article lo before a vowel.—Friend, amico.

Singular.

N. l'amico
G. dell' amico
D. all' amico
A. l'amico
Ab. dall' amico

Plural.

gli amici
degli amici
agli amici
gli amici
dagli amici

V. The article la before a vowel.—Soul, anima.

Singular.

N. l'anima
G. dell' anima
D. all' anima
A. l'anima
Ab. dall' anima

Plural.

le anime
delle anime
alle anime
le anime
dalle anime

VI. Nouns are also declined with the indefinite article uno, un, for the singular masculine, and una for the feminine: alcuni, m, and alcune, f. for the plural.

The prepositions di, a, and da, are used in the indirect cases. Di is made d' before a vowel, and a is made ad in the same circumstance; da suffers no change.

ITALIAN TONGUE.

11

VII. Uno is used before masculine nouns, beginning with e, followed by another consonant.

Singular.	Plural.
N. uno scolare	alcuni scolari
G. d'uno scolare	d'alcuni scolari
D. ad uno scolare	ad alcuni scolari
A. uno scolare	alcuni scolari
Ab. da uno scolare	da alcuni scolari

VIII. Un is used before other masculine nouns.

Singular.	Plural.
N. un libro	alcuni libri
G. d'un libro	d'alcuni libri
D. ad un libro	ad alcuni libri
A. un libro	alcuni libri
Ab. da un libro	da alcuni libri

IX. Una, feminine.

Singular.	Plural.
N. una donna	alcune donne
G. d'una donna	d'alcune donne
D. ad una donna	ad alcune donne
A. una donna	alcune donne
Ab. da una donna	da alcune donne

X. Nouns without an article are thus declined :

Beginning with a consonant.	Beginning with a vowel.
N. Roma	N. Avignone
G. di Roma	G. d'Avignone
D. a Roma	D. ad Avignone
A. Roma	A. Avignone
Ab. da Roma	Ab. da Avignone

Remarks.—1. The article lo is never abridged in the plural, unless the following noun begin with an e. Therefore write gli ingegni, gli instrumenti, but gli amori, gli onori.

2. The article la is never abridged in the plural, unless the following word begin with an e, as le quozze; but write le ombre, le anime, le invenzioni, &c. However, some nouns beginning with e, which end alike in the singular and the plural, receive the article le without an apostrophe. Thus write le effigie, the images, to distinguish it from its singular, l'effigie, the image.

3. Whenever the prepositions con, in, su, per, in the sense of with, in, upon, for, or by, meet with the definite articles il, lo, la, they are altered, as will be seen in the following table:—nel for in il; nello for in lo, &c. The Italian words printed in Italics have become obsolete.

Singular.	Plural.
Nel , nello ; nella ,	nei or ne' , negli ; nelle , in the
Col , collo ; colla ,	coi or co' , con gli or co- gli ; colle , with the
Sul , sullo ; sulla ,	su or sul ,  sugli ; sulle , upon the
Fel , pello ; pella ,	pelli , pei or pe' , per gli ; pelle , for the

As, nel giardino, nello spirito, nella camera, ne' giardini, negli spiriti, nelle camere, &c.

4. When the prepositions in, per and con, and also the particle non, meet with a word beginning with an s followed by a consonant, an i is added to the word, for the sake of pronunciation. Therefore, instead of in strada, con spavento, non stare, you will find in istrada, con spavento, non stare.

CHAPTER V.

ADJECTIVES.—COMPARATIVES.—SUPERLATIVES.—AUGMENTATIVES.—DIMINUTIVES.

Adjectives.—All the Italian adjectives end either in o or in e.

The adjectives in o form their feminine singular in a, their masculine plural in i, and their feminine plural in e.

The adjectives ending in e, in the singular, form their plural in i, and they have the masculine and feminine alike in both numbers; as,

Dotto, ma. dotta, fa. dotti, mp. dotte, fp. learned.
Cortese, m. and f. sing. cortesi, m. and f. plur. civil.

Adjectives always agree in gender and number with their substantives; as,

Un signore dotto e cortese—una donna dotta e cortese.

Signori dotti e cortesi—donne dotte e cortesi.

Un prato verde; una gonna verde; i prati verdi; le gonne verdi; meadow, gown.

Comparatives.—Adjectives become comparatives with the assistance of più, more, and meno, less; thus, caro, dear; più caro, dearer; meno caro, less dear.

The particles via or via; assai, molto, in the sense of much, a great deal; are often added to comparatives, to increase their energy; as, Cesare è stato via più, or assai più, or molto più, felice di Pompeo; Caesar was much more fortunate than Pompey.

La sorella è vie meno, or assai meno, or molto meno ostinata del fratello; the sister is far less obstinate than the brother.

The word than after comparatives, followed by an article, or a pronoun possessive, is expressed in Italian by del, della, della, de', degli, delle, suitable to the gender and number of the noun; as,

L'Asia è più popolata dell' Europa; Asia is more populous than Europe.

Questo giardino è meno largo dell' vostro; this garden is not so large as yours.

The word than not followed by an article, or before proper names, is rendered by di; as,

Cicerone era più eloquente di Hortensio; Cicero was more eloquent than Hortensius.

Sono meno ricco di voi; I am not so rich as you.

When the comparison is made between adjectives, adverbs, verbs, or substantives, without articles, than is rendered by che; as,

Mia sorella è più gentile che bella; my sister is more graceful than pretty.

Questo mi darà più fatica che profitto; this will give me more trouble than profit.

Egli parlava più dottamente che garbatamente; he spoke more learnedly than politely.

Superlatives.—The superlatives are formed by changing the last vowel of the adjective into issimo, with the variation of other adjectives in gender and number; as,

Dott-o, learned; dottissimo, dottissima, dottissimi, dottissime, most learned.

But if the article the be joined to most, then the superlative is expressed by il più, la più, i più, le più; as, il più felice, la più felice, i più felici, le più felici; the happiest, or the most happy.

Sometimes the repetition of the positive is enough to form a superlative; as,

Il tempo è freddo freddo; the weather is very cold.

Sofia è la bella delle belle; Sophia is the finest woman in the world.

Questo mi sembra tedioso tedioso; I think this most tiresome.

The following adjectives are irregular in the formation of their comparatives and superlatives:

Positive.

Buono, good,
Cattivo, bad,
Grande, great,
Piccolo, little,

Comparative.

migliore, better,
peggiore, worse,
maggiore, greater,
minore, less,

Superlative.

ottimo, the best,
passimo, the worst,
massimo, the greatest,
minimo, the least.

One may likewise say, più grande, più cattivo, più piccolo.

Observe that miglio and peggio, in the sense of a better, in a coarse manner, are adverbs, and cannot be joined to substantives. Therefore say, un migliore libro, a better book; un peggiore temperino, a worse penknife; and not miglio, peggio. But say, farà meglio, farà peggio, he will do better, worse.

Adverbs of the superlative degree are formed by changing the last letter of the adjectives into issimamente; as from dott-o, learned, is formed dottissimamente, most learnedly; from santo, holy, santissimamente, most holily, &c. but this manner of expressing one's self must be used cautiously; and, instead of such long words, it is better to employ substantives. Thus, for eloquentissimamente, imprudenterissimamente; say, rather, con massima eloquenza; con grandissima imprudenza.

Augmentatives and Diminutives.—The signification of many nouns, both substantives and adjectives, may be either increased or diminished, by the addition of certain syllables to their termination.

1. The augmentatives, reducible to rules, are formed in one, m. oia, f. oia, m. oia, f. oia, to signify bigness and stoutness, in a good sense.

Likewise in ocio, m. ocio, f. ocio, to signify something of a disgusting or contemptible bulk.

The addition enze expresses a great abundance of any thing.

EXAMPLES.

Libro, book; librone, a very large book.
Ragazza, f. a girl; ragazzona, a stout, jolly girl.
Casa, a house; casotto, casotta, a good, roomy house.

Sala, a parlour; salotto, a good sitting room.
Cavallo, a horse; caөөallaccio, a great ugly horse.
Casa, a house; casaccia, an ugly, large house.
Gente, people; gentame, a great crowd of people.

Observe that many nouns have a natural ending in ocio, ocio, and enze, without being augmentatives.

Observe, also, that the augmentatives masculine often come from feminine nouns, as casone, m. from casa, f.

2. The diminutives, reducible to rules, are formed in etto, ello, ello, with the variations incident to adjectives and substantives in o; as,

Carino, m. carino, fa. carino, mp. carino, sp. carino, pretty little creature, or creature.

Poverello, poverella, poverelli, poverelle, poor, little creature, or creature.

Livetto, a pretty little book. Acquatic, a clear, small stream.—Such diminutives denote, generally, endearment, and smallness.

Other diminutives, ending chiefly in uccio, uccio, and uzzo, uzzo, indicate something small or contemptible; as,

Caruccio, a small, mean-looking house.

Uomuzzo, a puny little fellow.

Yet all these rules are liable to exceptions, which nothing but practice can teach; for, besides the terminations which we have just given for augmentatives and diminutives, many other are freely used in familiar conversation, and in books on light subjects. Thus, from donna, a woman; casa, a house; libro, a book; may be formed the following augmentatives and diminutives:

Donna, one, a tall, stout, masculine woman.

Donna, one, a tall, strong, healthful woman.

Donna, one, an impudent, shameless virago.

Donna, one, a pretty, little, prattling woman.

Donna, one, a mean-looking little woman.

Donna, one, a pretty little woman.

Donna, one, a vulgar woman.

Donna, one, a bold, impudent, stout woman.

Casone, a very large house, a mansion.

Casale, a large, ill-contrived house.

Casavento, a well-built, roomy house.

Casale, one and casale, a large, ruinous house.

Casale, one, a large, roofless, decayed house.

Casale, one, a small, wretched house.

Casale, one and casale, a small, despicable house.

Casale, a poor, thatched cottage.

Casale, a small, low-built house.

Casale, a snug, comfortable house.

Casale, a snug house, also a neat kennel.

Casale, a very little, but genteel house.

Casale, m. casale, f. a neat, pretty cot.

Casale, a very small house.

Casale, a small, neat summer-house.

Libro, a bulky, heavy book.

Libro, an ugly, large book.

Libro, one and libro, a small, contemptible pamphlet.

Libro, one, a pretty, neat, little book.

Libro, one, a very little and pretty book.

Libro, one, a very small pamphlet.

And so on, with thousands of other words, in all the range of humour and whims; but few augmentatives and diminutives are admitted in a style strictly correct, beyond those in one, one, one, for increasing, and those in one, one, one, for diminishing.

CHAPTER VI.

PRONOUNS Personal; Possessive; Relative; Demonstrative; Indeterminate.

PRONOUNS PERSONAL.

We present here together the pronouns personal, both conjunctive and disjunctive; upon which some remarks will be made in the course of this chapter.

First Person, Singular.

Io, I

Di me, of me

A me, me, to me

Me, me, me

Da me, from me

Second Person, Singular.

Tu, thou

Di te, of thee

A te, to, to thee

Te, ti, thee

Da te, from thee

Third Person, Masculine, Singular.

Egli, ei, o, esso, he, it

Di lui, of him

A lui, gli, li, to him

Lui, lo, li, him, it

Da lui, from him

Plural.

Noi, we

Di noi, of us

A noi, ci, ne, to us

Noi, ci, ne, us

Da noi, from us

Plural.

Voi, you

Di voi, of you

A voi, vi, to you

Voi, vi, you

Da voi, from you

Plural.

Egli, ei, o, essi, they

Di loro, of them

A loro, loro, to them

Loro, gli, li, them

Da loro, from them

ACCIDENCE OF THE

Third Person Feminine Singular.

Eller, ella, she, it
Di lei, of her
A lei, to her
Lei, he, her, it
Da lei, from her

There are several other forms of this pronoun, chiefly poetical. Thus, ella, alk, al, 'l for egli; alk

Plural.

E' lloro, ess, they
Di loro, of them
A loro, to them
Loro, he, them
Da loro, from them

and elloro for egliro; la for ella; alle for elleno; alk for lui; alk for loro; alk for lei; and alle for loro, t.

The reflected pronoun se, one's self, is of all genders and numbers:

Di se, of one's self, himself, herself, itself, themselves
A se, to one's self, himself, herself, etc.
Se, se, one's self, himself, herself, etc.
Da se, from one's self, himself, herself, etc.

This pronoun acquires still more strength and elegance by the addition of stesso, stesso, stesso, stesso, which are also often joined to the other personal pronouns:—per se stesso, per se stesso, per se stesso, per se stesso, by himself, herself, etc. Lo farò da me stesso, I will do it myself.

With me, with thee, with himself, herself, etc. take the Latin turn, and are expressed by meo, tuo, suo.

Esso is sometimes placed with the preposition con and a pronoun personal, and it is masculine and feminine, as is its plural essi; thus, con esso lui, with him; con esso lei, with her; con essi loro, with them, men or women.

UNION of the conjunctive pronouns mi, ti, si, gli, ci, vi, loro, with the pronouns io, la, li, le, and me, in the sense of some, a part of, of it, etc.

*Mio mela meki mela * darà*, he will give it to me, them to me, etc.
*Telo tela teli tele * manderà*, he will send it to thee, etc.
*Gliele gliele gliele gliele * darà*, I will give it to him, etc.
*Solo sela seli seli * procurerà*, he will procure it to himself, etc.
*Celo cela celi cele * dirà*, he will tell it to us, etc.
*Velo vela veli vele * procurerà*, I will procure it to you, etc.

The ancients used glieli for glielo, gliela, glieli; and sometimes gliame for glielo, gliela, glieli, and glieli.

PRONOUNS POSSESSIVE.

The articles show sufficiently the gender and number.

Singular.

Il mio, la mia
Il tuo, la tua
Il suo, la sua
Il nostro, la nostra
Il vostro, la vostra
Il loro, la loro

Il mio libro, my book.

La sua casa, his or her house.

Before nouns of relation, or quality, in the singular number, the definite article is not wanted, but it must be used with the plural number; as,
Mia sorella, di mia sorella, my sister.
Vostro fratello, di vostro fratello, your brother.

Plural.

I miei, le mie, my, mine.
I tuoi, le tue, thy, thine.
I suoi, le sue, his, her, its.
I nostri, le nostre, our, ours.
I vostri, le vostre, your, yours.
I loro, le loro, their, theirs.

I nostri libri, our books.

Le nostre case, our houses.

But say, le mie sorelle, i vostri fratelli. The pronoun may, however, be transposed, and then the article is used; as, il fratello mio, la sorella mia.

Observe also, that all possessive pronouns agree in English with the possessor of a thing, but in Italian, always with the thing possessed; as, mio fratello ama sua moglie e le sue sorelle, my brother loves his wife and his sisters. Mia sorella ama suo marito, ed i suoi fratelli, my sister loves her husband and her brothers.

PRONOUNS RELATIVE.

All pronouns have a relative signification, but the following ones are peculiarly so called.

Singular and Plural; Masculine and Feminine.

Che; di che, di chi, or di cui; a che, a chi, or a cui; da che, da chi; that, who, which; of whom, whose, of which, &c. as, la donna che vedete, the lady whom, that, you see. Il signore che vi parlava, the gentleman who, that, was speaking to you. I libri che comprò, the books that, which, he bought. Le case che sono larghe, the houses that, which, are large.

Di cui, after a noun, is susceptible of an elegant transposition; as, Il signore di di cui padre, or di cui padre, or il padre di cui conosceva, the gentleman whose father you know.

La dama la di cui madre, or la cui madre, or la madre di cui avete veduta, the lady whose mother you saw.

I soldati al di cui capitano, or al cui capitano, or al capitano di cui parliavano, the soldiers to the captain of whom we spoke.

Il, or la quale, sing. l, or le quali, pl., who, which, is applied to persons or things.

In interrogative phrases, chi, who? is applied to persons, che, what? to things, and quale to either.

PRONOUNS DEMONSTRATIVE.

Questo, m. questa, f. questi, mp. queste, fp. this, these.

Quello, m. quella, f. quelli, m. quelle, f. that, those.

Costui, m. costei, f. costoro, m. and f. this, these; he, she, they.

Cotui, m. colei, f. coloro, m. and f. that, those; he, she, they.

Quello is made quel before a consonant; and quella is often contracted into quel.—Questi, in the sense of quello, quelli, is singular and plural.

Qui and là are sometimes added to give more strength to the pronouns; as, questo qui, this one here; quello là, that one there.

Questi and questi are often used in the singular number; as, questi fu felice, quegli sfortunato; this man was happy, and that unfortunate.

Cotesto, cotesta, cotesti, coteste, in the sense of this, these, are still in use; but cotestui, this man, and cotestoro, these or those, have become obsolete. Codesto, codesta, &c. is a corruption of cotesto.

PRONOUNS INDETERMINATE OR INDEFINITE.

Ogni, m. and f. sing. each, every.—Tutto, tutta, tutti, tutte, signifies all, every one, a totality.

Ciascheduno, ciascheduna, ciascheduni, ciaschedune; e ciascuno, ciascuna, ciascuno, ciascuna, every one, every body.

Qualche, m. and f. sing. some; and in the plural, alcuni, m. alcune, f. some.

Alcuno, alcuna, alcuni, alcune; e qualcuno, qualcuna, qualcuni, qualcune, somebody, some one.

Nessuno, nessuna, nessun, nessuna; e nessuno, nessuna, nessuna, nessuna, nobody, no one.

Certo, certa, certi, certe, some, some one; a certain one, certain ones.

Tale, m. and f. sing. tali, m. and f. plural, such, such another, such others.

Chiunque, m. and f. sing. whoever, whoever.

Qualunque, m. and f. sing. whatever.

Qualivoglia, m. and f. sing. whatsoever, any.

Ne, some, of it, of them.

Altro, altra, altri, altre, other, others; which makes altrei, in its oblique cases; as, d'altrui, od altrui; of other and others, to other and others. Altri is often used in the singular instead of altro; altri ride, altri piange, one laughs and the other cries.

Si, one, people, men, they; as, si dice, one says, people say, it is said.

Detached Observations on the Pronouns.

1. Ci and oi, which signify us, to us; you, to you, when they are personal pronouns, are likewise adverbs, in the sense of here and there.

2. Ne, without any accent, is sometimes a personal pronoun which signifies us, to us; sometimes an indeterminate pronoun, in the sense of some, any, of it, of them, &c. But ne, with the grave accent, signifies not, nor, neither; and ne', with an apostrophe, is an abbreviation of nei, in the; ne' campi, in the fields.

3. Si, an indeterminate pronoun, in the sense of one, people, men, they, is of extensive use in Italian,

*Si dicono incredibili cose,
Si sono prese molte navi,
Non si parla di pace,
Se ne saprà qualche cosa,
Vi si domanda del pane,*

as will appear by the following examples. Si is written se, when it meets with re.

*they say incredible things.
they have taken many ships.
they say nothing of peace.
we will hear something of it.
they ask you bread.*

With many other turns which we shall have occasion to notice more at large in our observations on passive verbs.

Essential remark.—When the Italians wish to show a particular regard, they make use of the third person of the verb, instead of the second; that is, the third person singular, when they address one person only, and the third person plural, if they speak to many people. In such a case, ella, lei, or sometimes vostrignoria takes the place of voi; and sua of vostra, for the singular, applied to men and women. Lor signori, masculine and feminine, supply the second person plural. Vosignoria is an abbreviation of vostra signoria, and lor signori, of le signorie loro; but ella or lei are now more fashionable than vosignoria.

This manner of speaking will become quite familiar, if we accustom ourselves to the idea that we are speaking of a person, instead of speaking to her, as will appear in the transposition of the following pronoun.

Singular, Masculine and Feminine.

Ella or lei, she—you, sir, or madam.

Di lei, of her—of you, sir, or madam.

A lei, to her—to you, sir, or madam.

La, her—you, sir, or madam.

Da lei, from her—from you, sir, or madam.

Plural, Masculine and Feminine.

Lor signori, they—you, gentlemen and ladies.

Di lor signori, of them—of you, gentlemen and ladies.

A lor signori, to them—to you, gentlemen and ladies.

Lor signori, to them—you, gentlemen and ladies.

Da lor signori, from them—from you, gentlemen and ladies.

The following examples will render these observations plainer:—

Non può far meglio, vosignoria, per distrarsi dagl' impacci, che viaggiar l' Italia. Se ella entrerà da Venezia, vedrà una città unica al mondo, per la sua situazione; ma non sarà questa l' unica cosa che la sorprenderà.

Ferrara le farà vedere una bella e vasta solitudine.

Bologna presenterà a suoi occhi un altro bel prospecto.

Non si scordi di Modena, come patria dell' illustre Muratori.

Buon giorno, signore, come sta ella stamattina?

Buon giorno, signora, come sta ella?

Benissimo per servirla, la ringrazio.

Signore, favorisca di sedersi, la prego.

Le sarò sempre intimo suo amico.

You cannot do better, sir, to divert yourself from affairs, than to travel through Italy. Should you enter it on the side of Venice, you will see a town, the only one in the world for its situation; but this is not the only thing which will surprise you.

Ferrara will offer to you a beautiful and vast solitude.

Bologna will present to your eyes another fine prospect.

Do not forget Modena, as being the native place of the illustrious Muratori.

Good day, sir, how do you do this morning?

Good day, madam, how do you do?

Very well, at your service, I thank you.

Pray, sir, do me the favour to be seated.

I shall always be your most devoted friend.

Strange as this phraseology may sound to an English ear, it is indispensable to the Italian tongue, in speaking to one's superiors, and chiefly to women above the common rank.

CHAPTER VII.

VERBS: Auxiliary; Regular; and Irregular.

Ob. 1. The personal pronouns io, tu, &c. are placed above the tenses of the verbs, in the following pages, to distinguish the persons; but it will be better to conjugate the verbs without them, except in the three persons singular of the present of the subjunctive, and the first and second persons of the preterite tense of the same mood, on account of a similarity in the endings.

2. As the persons who apply to the Italian tongue have commonly begun already to learn either the French, the Latin, or their own language by rules, we suppose them able to conjugate an English verb; therefore we have inserted the first person singular only, for the sake of brevity, and the neatness of the tables.

3. For the same reason we give the first person singular only of the compound tenses, as they are merely the repetition of the verbs avere or essere, with the participle past of any verb. Thus, when we have ho avuto, it is easy to add hai avuto, ha avuto, abbiamo avuto, avete avuto, hanno avuto, &c. &c.

4. There are four tenses in all verbs, whether regular or irregular, which have the same termination.

	ò,	à;	abbiamo,	avèto, avèto.
Written sometimes,
Imperfect.	I had.	Avèva, avèvi, avèva;	avèvamo, avèvate, avèvamo.—avèva avuto.		—I had had.
Preterite.	I had.	Ebbi, avèsti, ebbe;	avémmo, avèste, ebbero.—ebbi avuto.		—I had had.
Future.	I shall or will have.	Avrò, avrài, avrà;	avrémo, avréte, avranno.—avrò avuto.		—I shall or will have had.
Conditional.	I would, could, should have.	Avrei, avrésti, avrébbe;	avrémmo, avréste, avrebbero.—avrei avuto.		—I would have had.

* We likewise say, vo, vi, ve; and perhaps vo should be preferred to se, as it distinguishes the first person from the third; but custom has prevailed, and vo is now commonly used instead of se.

ACCIDENCE OF THE

SUBJUNCTIVE, OR POTENTIAL.

Present. CH' io, Abb'ia,	That I may have. che tu, abb'ia & abbi,	ch' egli; abb'ia;	che noi, abbiamo,	che voi, abbiate,	—that I may have had. CH' egliino. abbiamo.—abbia avuto.
Präterite. Avessi,	That I might have. avessi,	avessi;	avessimo,	aveste,	—that I might have had. avessero.—avessi avuto.

IMPERATIVE.

Abbi or abbia tu, have thou; abbia egli, let him have; abbiamo noi, let us have; abbiate voi, have ye; abbiano egliino, let them have.

Conjugation of the Auxiliary Verb essere, to be

INFINITIVE.

Present. Essendo,	Esse, to be, to exist. Essendo, con essere, coll' essere, in essere, nell' essere, being, in being.
Part. past. Stato, ma. stàta, f. stàti, m. pl. stàta, f. pl. stàte.

INDICATIVE.

Present Tenses. Io, Sono,	I am. tu, sei,	egli; è;	noi, siamo,	voi, siete,	Compound Tenses. I have been. egliino. sono.—sono stato, &c. stati, &c.
Imperfect. Era,	I was. eri,	era;	eravamo,	eravate,	erano. —I had been. —era stato.
Präterite. Fui,	I was. fosti,	fù;	fummo,	foste,	furono. —I had been. —fui stato.
Future. Sarò,	I shall or will be. sarai,	sarà;	saremo,	sarete,	—I shall or will have been. saranno. —sarò stato.
Conditional. Sarei,	I could, would, should be. saresti,	sarebbe;	saremmo,	sareste,	—I would have been sarebbero.—sarei stato.

SUBJUNCTIVE, OR POTENTIAL.

Present Tenses. CH' io, Sia,	That I may be. che tu, sia & sii,	ch' egli; sia;	che noi, siamo,	che voi, siate,	—that I may have been. CH' egliino. siano. —sia stato.
Präterite. Fossi,	That I might be. fossi,	fosse;	fossimo,	foste,	—that I might have been. fossero. —fossi stato.

IMPERATIVE.

Sii, & sia tu, be thou; sia egli, let him be; siamo noi, let us be; siate voi, be ye; stiano egliino, let them be.

The reader must have observed, that the compound tenses of the verb essere are not formed as in English, by the help of essere, to have, but of essere, to be. So that, instead of saying, I have been, I had been, &c., the Italians say, I am been, I was been, &c.

Observe, also, that in conjugating the compound tenses of essere, the participle agrees always with the nominative; so that a man must say, sono stato, and a woman, sono stata; for men, siamo stati, and for women, siamo state, &c.

The verbs venire, to come, andare, to go, stare, to remain, are often used in the sense of essere; as,

Egli vien riputato per un uomo dabbene, he is looked upon as a very honest man. Ciò mi vien detto da molti, I am told so by many people.

Io vo facendo qualche cosa pel vostro vantaggio, I am doing something to your advantage. Essa è tosto rovinata, he will be soon ruined.

La cosa sta come vi dico, the thing is as I tell you. Stavamo leggendo quando vostro fratello entrò nella camera, we were reading when your brother entered the room.

Regular Conjugations in are, ere and ire.

There are three regular conjugations in Italian, distinguished by the termination of the infinitive.

First, in are, ato, as, amare, amato, to love.

Second, in ere, uto, as, credere, creduto, to believe.

Third, in ire, uto, as, sentire, sentito, to hear.

Of the verbs in ere, some have the e long, as, dolere, vedere, tenere; and the others have it short, as, leggere, scrivere, perdere; but their manner of being conjugated is not affected by that.

Conjugation of Verbs in isco.

Among the verbs of the third conjugation, ending in isco, many are irregular in the present of the indicative and subjunctive, and likewise in the imperative. All their other tenses are like sentire ; and these we present here by their first person singular only.

INFINITIVE.

Blandire, blandendo, blandito, to caress.

INDICATIVE.

Present.	Blandisco, blandisci, blandisco ; blandiamo, blandite, blandiscono.
Imperfect, &c.	Blandiva ; blandii ; blandirò ; blandirei.

SUBJUNCTIVE, OR POTENTIAL.

Present.	Blandisca, blandisca, blandisca ; blandiamo, blandite, blandiscano.
Preterite.	Blandissi, blandissi, blandissi, &c.

IMPERATIVE.

Blandisci tu, blandisca egli ; blandiamo noi, blandite voi, blandiscano eglino.

Many of the verbs in isco, eco, end likewise in are, o ; as, colorare and colorare, to colour ; indurire and indurire, &c. to harden.—Poets do not always observe this irregularity in isco, and they write equally offro, and offerisco, muggo and muggisco, lungo and lungisco, fero and ferisco, &c.

Conjugation of a Reflected and Reciprocal Verb.

Reflected and reciprocal verbs are conjugated alike in Italian. Sti, joined to the infinitive, answers to one's self ; and the persons in the other moods are expressed as follows :

Sing. mi, ti, si ; myself, thyself, himself, herself.
Plural, ci, vi, si ; ourselves, yourselves, themselves.

They seldom have the addition of the pronouns io, tu, egli, noi, voi, eglino.

INFINITIVE.

Divertirsi, to amuse one's self.
Divertendosi, amusing, or in amusing one's self.
Divertitosi, having amused one's self.

INDICATIVE.

Present. I amuse myself, &c.
Sing. mi diverto, ti diverti, si diverte. Pl. ci divertiamo, vi divertite, si divertono.
And so on with the other tenses—mi divertiva ; mi divertii ; mi divertirò ; mi divertirei ; ch'io mi diverto ; ch'io mi divertii, &c.

ACCIDENCE OF THE

IMPERATIVE.

Divertiti, amuse thyself; divertasi, let him amuse himself; divertiamoci, let us amuse ourselves; divertetevi, amuse yourselves; divertansi, let them amuse themselves.

The compound tenses are conjugated with the verb essere :

I have amused myself, &c. Sing. mi sono divertito; ti sei divertito; s'è divertito. Plur. ci siamo divertiti, vi siete divertiti, si sono divertiti.—And so for the other tenses: m'era divertito; mi fui divertito; mi sarò divertito, &c.—For the feminine: mi sono divertita; ci siamo divertite.

Remarks as here is, there is, &c.

The English adverbs here and there are expressed in Italian by ci and vi. Ci is commonly used when we speak of a place in which we are, and vi of a place in which we are not, as will appear in the following scheme :

C'è, ci sono, there is, there are; here is, here are.

C'era, c'erano, there was, there were.

Vi fu, vi furono, there has been, there have been.

Vi sarà, vi saranno, there will be, sing. and pl.

C'era stato, c'erano stati, there had been.

V'era stato, v'erano stati, there had been.

C'è? ci sono? is there? are there?

C'era? c'erano? was there? were there?

C'era stato? c'erano stati? had there been?

Vi è? vi sono? is there? are there?

V'era? v'erano? was there? were there?

V'era stato? v'erano stati? had there been?

Non c'è, non ci sono, there is not, there are not.

Non c'era, non c'erano, there was not, there were not.

Non c'era stato, non c'erano stati, there had not been.

Non v'è, non vi sono, there is not, there are not.

Non v'era, non v'erano, there was not, there were not.

Non v'era stato, non v'erano stati, there had not been.

Non c'è? non ci sono? is not there? are not there?

Non v'era? non v'erano? was not there? were not there?

Non vi fu? non vi furono? has not there been? have not there been?

Non v'era stato? &c. &c. had not there been? &c. &c.

The tone of the voice marks the difference between a simple affirmation or a negation, and an interrogation. Thus:—C'è del pane, there is some bread. C'è del pane? is there any bread? Non v'erano molte donne nel giardino, there were not many ladies in the garden. Non v'erano molte donne nel giardino? were there not many ladies in the garden?

Remarks on the verb bisognare, in the sense of must and ought.

The verb Bisognare is an impersonal verb of extensive use in Italian; and its correspondent English verbs, must and ought, not being impersonal, beginners fall into constant mistakes. To avoid this, let the English phraseology, I must go, you must go, he must go, &c. be turned into it must that I go, it must that you go, it must that he goes, &c. and then the following examples will be readily understood and applied.

Bisogna ch'io gli parli, I must speak to him.

Bisogna ch'impariate questo, you must learn this.

Bisognerebbe ch'io lo facessi, I should do it.

Ci bisogna morire, we must die.

Vi bisognava vederlo, you ought to have seen him.

Bisognerà ch'egli mi paghi, he must pay me.

We see by these examples, that che, after this impersonal verb, requires the subjunctive.

Detached Remarks on Verbs.

1. The Italians use frequently the infinitives of verbs, instead of nouns substantives, for the masculine singular; as, il suo parlare m'annoiava, his conversation tires me; alto spuntar del giorno, at the break of day; il piangere nasce sovente dal ridere, tears often spring from laughter.

2. The infinitive is frequently used instead of the imperative, in negative phrases, chiefly in speaking to inferiors, or in poetry; as, non dir questo alla moglie, do not tell this to your wife; non chiedere al seno alla pietà, do not shut your breast to compassion; non ti lasciar vincere dall' ira, do not let yourself be conquered by anger.

3. The participle passive, conjugated with essere, agrees always with its nominative; as, la virtù è lodata, ma il vizio è tenuto a vile, virtue is praised, but vice is despised.

The participle conjugated with avere agrees generally with its accusative, when it is placed after that accusative; but it remains in the masculine singular, when it precedes its accusative; as, ho ricevuto la vostra lettera, I have received your letter; la lettera che ho ricevuta, the letter which I have received. Avevano fatto gran cose, they had done great things; le gran cose che avevano fatte, the great things which they had done.

The participles present having and being, joined in English to a participle past, are elegantly omitted in Italian; as, detto questo, uscì dalla camera, having said that, he went out of the room; finita la predica, uscimmo dalla chiesa, the sermon being over, we left the church; vedutolo, having seen him.

Likewise, when, as soon as, or such like expressions, are not expressed in Italian, when they meet in English with the verb to have, or to be, joined to a participle past; as, fatto ch' ebbe, as soon as he had done; pranzato ch' avemmo, when we had dined; venuti che furono, as soon as they were come.

4. The pronoun they, when used in the indeterminate sense of one, you, people, men, it, it, you, &c., is rendered in Italian by si; but by se, when it meets with ne; and the verb is put in a reflected form, either singular or plural, as happens to be the noun to which it relates.—Sometimes the Italians employ a passive turn, peculiar to their language, with the help of the verb essere, which is often supplied by venire.—Let the following examples be carefully observed:

Si dice così ;	It is said so.
Si dicono molte cose ;	People report many things.
Si dirà, or si dirassi che l'avete insultato ;	They will say that you insulted him.
Si loda l'uomo modesto ;	One praises a modest man.
Si lodano gli uomini modesti ;	Modest men are praised.
Amasi, or si ama d'essere onorato ;	One likes to be esteemed.
Sieguansi i grandi esempi ;	Let us follow great examples.
Mi si domanda uno scudo ;	They ask me five shillings.
Mi si domandano tre ghinee ;	They ask me three guineas.
Che si dirà di voi se fate ciò ?	What will be said of you if you do so ?
Si direbbe, or direbbesi che siete uno spendereccio ;	One would say that you are a spendthrift.
Se ne saprà qualche cosa ;	We shall hear something of it.
Non se ne parla ;	People say nothing of it.
Cene sarà parlato ;	They will speak of it to us.
Mi vien detto da molti ;	I was told so by many people.
Vene verrà scritto ;	They will write it to you.
Siete domandato ;	Somebody asks for you.
Mi fu dato un libro ;	I received a book.
Ci fu scritta una lettera ;	They wrote a letter to us.
Vi saranno mandate molte lettere ;	You will receive many letters.

IRREGULAR VERBS.

The following observations will greatly facilitate the general system of the Italian irregular verbs.

1. When a verb is irregular in the present of the indicative, it is always so in the present of the subjunctive, and in the imperative.

2. Verbs are irregular chiefly in the present of the indicative, the preterite of the same mood, and the participle past.

3. Some verbs in nére, lère, long, and in nère, and likewise some in nère and ave short, contracted in ore and ore, form their future and conditional in erò and erai; as, tenere, terrò, terrai; volere, vor- rò, vorrai; vedere, vedrò, vedrai; porre, porrò, porrai; condurre, condurrò, condurrà, &c. &c.—Yare, darò, darai, take ard, arai, instead of ard, arai, in their future and conditional; fare, farai, &c.

4. Most of the verbs ending in lère and nère long, and in lère and nère, take a g in their present tenses and in the imperative; as, tenere, to hold, teengo, teengo; dolere, to grieve, doigo, doigo; salire, to leap, salgo, salgo; venire, to come, vegna, vegna.

5. Some verbs in nére and nère drop the letter r in their present tenses and in the imperative; as, parire, paio, to appear; morire, muio, and muolo, to die.

Caution.—In the tenses wherein will be found the first person singular only, the others may be formed easily by the General Paradigm (page 19.)

Thus, when you have creare, creo, creando, &c., you have only to observe their proper tenses in the paradigm, and you will readily form creare, creai, creare, &c. &c.

I. Irregular Verbs in are, care, gare.

Andare, dare, fare, stare, and the verbs ending in cure and gare, are the only irregular of the first conjugation.

Infinitive. Gerund. Participle.

1. Andare, andando, andato, to go.

Ind. Vado or vo, vai, va; andiamo, andate, vanno. Andava. Andai. Andrò or andrò. Andrai or andrai.

Sub. Ch' io vada, vada, vada; andiamo, andiate, vadano and vadino. Andassi.

Imp. Va, vada; andiamo, andate, vadano.

2. Dare, dando, dato, to give.

Ind. Do, dai, dà; diamo, date, danno. Dava. Diedi or detti, desti, diede or detti or dè; dammo, desti, diedero or dettero or diedono. Darò. Darai.

Sub. Ch' io dia, dia or dii, dia; diamo, diate, diano or diino. Dessi.

Imp. Da, dia; diamo, date, diano.

3. Fare, facendo, fatto, to do.

Ind. Fo, fai, fa; facciamo, fate, fanno. Faceva. Feci, fecisti, fece; facemmo, facete, faranno. Farò. Farai.

Sub. Ch' io faccia. Facessi.

Imp. Fa, faccia; facciamo, fate, facciano.

4. Stare, stando, stato, to be, to live, to stop.

Ind. Sto, stai, sta; stiamo, stato, stanno. Stava. Stetti, stesti, stette; stemmo, state, stettero. Starò. Starai.

Sub. Ch' io stia. Stessi.

Imp. Sta, stia; stiamo, state, stiano.

The verbs in cure and gare take an A in the tenses where the c or g should otherwise meet before e or a.

Infinitive.	Gerund.	Participle.
Peccare,	peccando,	peccato,	to sin.
Pregare,	pregando,	pregato,	to pray.

Fecero, peccati, pecca; pecciamo, peccate, peccano.
Prego, pregati, prega; pregiamo, pregate, pregano.
Peccherò, peccherai.—pregherò, pregherai, &c. &c.

II. Irregular Verbs in ere long.

Ob. There are but four verbs in ere long, which are irregular in their participles; namely, parere, parvo; persuadere, persuaso; rimanere, rimaso; scire, scito. All the others make their participles in ito.

N. B. Let this remark be attentively considered.—The third person singular and the third person plural of the preterite tense of the indicative, are formed from the first person singular of that same tense; thus the second person singular, and the first and second persons plural, are commonly formed from the infinitive; as, from dolere, giacere, conoscere, &c. &c., are formed,

Dolere, dolenti, doleo; dolemmo, doleste, dolevate.
Giacere, giacenti, giaccio; giacemmo, giaceste, giacévate.
Conoscere, conoscetti, conosco; conoscemmo, conosceste, conoscévate.

Infinitive. Gerund. Participle.

1. Cadere, cadendo, caduto, to fall.

Ind. Cado or caggio, cadi, cade; cadiamo or caggiamo, cadete, cadono or caggiono. Cadeva. Cadi-4, esti, &c.; emmo, este, erono. Caderò. Caderai.
Sub. Ch' lo cada or caggia. Cadessi.
Imp. Cadi, cada or caggia; cadiamo, cadete, cadano.

15. Bere.—The verb bevere, to drink, is a regular verb, conjugated like credere; but it is often contracted in the following manner:—

Infinitive.	Gerund.	Participle.
Bere	beando	bevuto, to drink.
Ind. Berò, bevi, bee;	beando	beviamo, bevete, bevete.
Beva. Bevvi, bevvi, bevve;	beando	beammo, beaste,
bevvero. Berò. Berai.

Sub. Ch' io bea, beva, and bevva. Bervvial, and beml.

Imp. Bei, bea; beviamo, beete, beano.

This contraction has something uncouth, and is not adopted by correct writers; the regular form is by far preferable.

Amorbero, pref. amori; part. asorto, to suck up, to absorb, is otherwise conjugated like credere; asorbo, asorbeva, asorberò, &c.

16. Arre; contracted from verbs in ere.

Verbs of this kind take commonly a double gg in the present of the indicative and subjunctive, and in the imperative; the preterite is made ar, the participle ito, the future rrò, and the conditional rral.

Infinitive. Preterite. Participle.

Trarre and trarre trassi tratto, to draw

Ind. Trao and traggio, trai, trae; traiano and traggiamo, traete, traono and traggono. Travea. Trassi, traceti, &c. Trarrò. Trarrei.

CHAPTER VIII.

LICENSES AND EXPLETIVES.

Grammarians give the name of licenses to some peculiar changes which writers have made in the formation of certain words, either by lengthening or shortening them, or by altering their usual orthography.

1. The third person plural of the præterite tense of the indicative, ending in arono, is often contracted into ero; as, amarò, legarò, andarò, for amaro, legarono, andarono.

2. The letter v is frequently left out in some tenses, but chiefly in the imperfect of the indicative; as, avea, potea, finia, scrivea, dea, deano, ha, haia, &c., for aveva, poteva, finiva, scrivevano, dove, dovea, have, havea, &c.

3. The letters ai are cut off in the participle past of verbs; thus, instead of coimato, adornato, chinato, domato, cato, we find coimo, adorno, chimo, dorno, cato.

4. The letter v is often found added, in ancient poetry, to the third person singular of the præterite tense of the indicative, and to some other words; as, amòv, parlòv, cantòv, fuv, piuv, giuv, &c. fur amò, parlò, cantò, fù, più, giù, &c.—Sometimes a is added to verbs ending in ire; as, rapiò, finio, empio, uacio, for rapi, finì, empì, uacì.

5. Sometimes g and gg are used instead of other letters; as, aggio, veggio, caggio, veggendo, chiegio, veglio, spoglio, &c., instead of agio, vado, cado, vado, chiedo, vecchio, specchio, &c.

6. We find e instead of a and i in the second and third person singular of the indicative; as, cele for aia, aia; serie for aia, aia, &c.

7. The articles dello, della, degli, dei, delle, are often written by the poets, de lo, de la, de gli, de li, de le.

Besides these licenses, the Italian poets employ many words seldom used in prose, by which they form a language peculiar to themselves; such are the following ones:

Aer for aria, the air. Brando for spada, a sword. Carine for verso, verse or poem. Esca for cibo, food. Legno for vascello, ship. Lumi for occhi, eyes. Palma for mano, hand. Squilla for campanella, bell. Unqua, unquanche, unquanco, for mai, ever. [Vale for poeta, a poet. Viri for nominis viri, heroes, &c.—Chiefly Latin words, of which thousands will be found in reading the poets.

Expletives.—These are certain words which, in some particular locutions, cease to have any real meaning, and are employed only for the sake of greater emphasis, or more elegance and harmony. The Italians give to those expletives the name of ripieno, which literally signifies fill up.—The following words are those which are more frequently used as expletives:

Pura, mai, poi, già, così, mica, non, via, agli, alla, esso, mi, ti, ci, vi, si.

Dite pur quel che volete; say whatever you please. E pure ardite negarlo? and do you dare to deny it?

Ora sono pur disposti a venire; they are now disposed to come.

Torna mai sempre a dire di nuovo l'istesso cose; he is always repeating the same things.

Non è poi vero quanto mi diceste? is not what you told me true?

Non vorrei già ch' egli partisse; I would not be glad that he should go away.

Non credo già che ve n' avrete a male; I do not believe that you will be hurt by it.

Con esso lei, con esso loro; with her, with them.

La dottrina è di più gran prezzo che non le ricchezze; learning is of greater value than riches.

E' più dritto ch' io non credevo; he is more learned than I thought.

Io mi son giovinetta; I am young.

Io mi credo che non è vero; I believe that it is not true.

I giovani sono via più inclinati a' piaceri che non allo studio; young people are more inclined to pleasure than to study, &c. &c.

The limits of this short grammar do not permit me to be more diffuse; but I earnestly recommend to the learners to peruse all the Idiomata sentences inserted in the Dictionary, as this will greatly forward their progress in the Italian language.

H

THE letter H formerly claimed no place in the Italian as well as other languages. Modern writers, however, discard it as affording no increase of sound to

IDI

the vowels, and therefore useless.
 For instance, huomo is pronounced uomo. The same rule is observed in all words beginning with this letter; but, by putting it with the letters c and g, and the vowels e, i, the h, between c, or g, has the same sound
 as when the said two consonants are joined with a, o, u; as, chino, chuto, gherone, ghiro, which must be pronounced thus, kino, keto, &c. It should, however,
 be used in the beginning of some
 words, as in ho, I have; hai,
 thou hast; ha, he has; hanno,
 they have; in order to distinguish them, more to the eye than to the ear, from a, or o, u, to;
ai, to the; also, anno, year.
